

She donates to many places. Many places. List category ,how much donated, when,

Guidestar

Determine if theres a lot of repetitiveness

How to make the list more compact and manageable, and still meet the goal to give to charities.

Set up a legacy thing. Not years for years

Small organizations, not a ton of money at once, a little at a time

How to rank these, which ones do the best, the impact, how accountable, what the organization's mission is.

Charity websites that rank them

Some kind of rating system to know how they fall in terms of work and impact

Given too so many that list is very big, political stuff, what percentage of fundarasing goes to program, percent of what goes to administration

How to rank them

Researching each organization and rank them in some meaningful way.

Make sure its viable, sending money to a place and not using for the orgram is bad, getting all this info helps rank them

Wants to give money to places that actually goes towards mission

Money towards farm animals are abused

Gives to health organizations and wild life,

Accountability is a big thing in ranking

Shes especially concerned for animals as more people donate to childrens charities

Mostly animals, but a few non animals, and a few disease charitys like alzimers

Percent of funds used for prgrams and politic involvements

- Determine where the lgacy should be left, which areas, one of her family members will take care of fund, and doesnt want them to give some money here and some money there.
- Animal welfare
- Year to year contributing to each place
- Charity navigator - rank these orgs / she doesnt know how they rank them
- 501 c3 orgs
-